-City High XC Family-

There is a fire burning and this season is looking very bright! The coaching staff felt the energy tonight before the race, during the race, and afterwards. This is the first step of many throughout the season, but the way you competed with each other makes us so excited to see how we compete against rival competition. The focus has been solid in the couple weeks of official practice, and it was evident that summer running paid off for many individuals tonight. We are just getting started, and the fun is just beginning :)
